

South Carolina Home at Montreat Update, April, 2011

Excitement over apartment renovation

As a major project nears completion, excitement builds each step of the way. That is the way it is with the South Carolina Home at Montreat Board. The renovation of the Kirk Apartments is almost finished. The smell of new paint, the look of the new doors to the balconies, the satisfaction of being able to offer two fully handicapped apartments to guests all add to this excitement.

This project was part of the original plans for the “Raise the Roof” campaign. Donors to the campaign made this part of the project possible by allowing their donations to be used for this phase.

The South Carolina Home at Montreat Board has set Sunday, May 15, 2011, 4:00 pm, as the dedication of the renovation. Plans include a brief ceremony, unveiling a plaque containing the names of those who contributed $5,000 or more to the project, special recognition for the named gift of the project, and refreshments for all.

Join the Board of South Carolina Home at Montreat for this special Sunday afternoon celebration. This is part of a continuing effort to make South Carolina Home at Montreat more comfortable and accessible to those who stay there.

Collegiate Conference kicks off the year

South Carolina Campus Ministry Students occupied the William Brearley Home during the Collegiate Conference. While performing at the Collegiate Conference and the surrounding area, the Resurrection Dance Theater also used the facility.

Reservations are still available for the first week of Worship & Music Conference and the Family Life Conference. If you are looking for housing during these conferences contact Chuck, 1-800-669-7460. Fall weekends are almost full, but weekday stays are still available.

Facility Projects Completed
